Manlio Rossi-Doria

1905-1988

Manlio Rossi- Doria was an Italian intellectual and politician. In the wake of Giustino Fortunato and Francesco Saverio Nitti, he devoted his analysis and political commitment to address the issue of the social and economic development of Southern Italy.

As an active anti-fascist, he was arrested and sentenced in 1930 for subversive activities, and confined in Basilicata in 1940. From confinement he participated in the foundation of the Action Party. In post-war, he played a leading role in the political life of the Italian Republic when he was elected to the Senate.

In 1948 he was appointed professor of Agricultural Economics and Policy at Federico II University of Naples, in Portici. In 1959 he founded the Centro di Specializzazione e Ricerche Economico Agrarie per il Mezzogiorno (Centre for Advanced Training and Research in Agricultural Economics for Mezzogiorno). He is commonly considered one of the most prominent agricultural economists in the second half of the XX Century. He was a brilliant writer and authored many milestone essays on agricultural markets and policies and analysing the agricultural sector in the Italian South.

As an agricultural economist his contribution has been characterized by a deep and continuous intertwining with institutional experiences and responsibilities. From 1944 to 1948 he was commissioner for the Istituto Nazionale di Economia Agraria (National Institute of Agricultural Economics, INEA). In the post-war period he contributed to the Agrarian Reform. Later on, in the seventies, he was counselor of the Cassa per il Mezzogiorno) and, from 1981 until 1988, he was President of the Associazione Nazionale per gli Interessi del Mezzogiorno d'Italia (National Association for the Interests of the Italian Mezzogiorno, ANIMI).

The Rossi-Doria Centre today proceeds in the examination of the rich Rossi-Doria archive which was previously carried by the Manlio Rossi- Doria Association. Currently available is a selection of letters on the subject of Europe that Rossi-Doria exchanged over several decades with scholars of such calibre as Altiero Spinelli, Pietro Nenni, and others; further lines of archival research are being planned.
